

Scholarships are financial awards which can help pay for college and do not have to be paid back. Below are a few options for information on scholarships available at BYU:

- Women's Services and Resources
- National Scholarships, Fellowships, and Programs (NSFP)
- BYU Financial Aid Office

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

Women's Services and Resources

Due to generous donations from interested philanthropists, Women's Services and Resources is able to offer scholarships for non-traditional female students. These are students who are single parents and/or those returning to school later in life. To apply for this scholarship, visit the WSR website at wsr.byu.edu, click on Services → click on Nontraditional Student Scholarship. Fill out the application. When completed, application may be emailed to wsr@byu.edu, or a printed copy may be turned in to the WSR office.

National Scholarships, Fellowships, and Programs (NSFP)

The website nsfp.byu.edu provides an excellent search engine for scholarships. To search, visit the site and use the two links at the bottom of the introductory page:

- Find Other Scholarships
- External Scholarship Engines

Here is one example of a search process that may be particularly helpful to women:

Find other scholarships →Categories→Minority & Women →Search
This will produce a substantial list of scholarship possibilities.

Within this search engine, you will also find scholarships specific to a myriad of categories such as multicultural, international, military, DAR, medical/dental/pharmaceutical, specific majors/fields of study, etc. Click on any that interest you to explore the possibilities.

Brigham Young University Financial Aid Office

The Financial Aid Office offers a variety of scholarships which are available to freshman, transfer, former, and continuing students. For more information, visit their website at financialaid.byu.edu/section/scholarships. You must apply for scholarships on or before posted deadlines, even if you have not yet been admitted to the university. Your application for scholarships will be processed once you are admitted. You may also want to contact individual departments as well, as your major may have additional scholarship options.

PLANNING IS IMPORTANT

Planning is such an important part of any college student's financial path.

Luke 14:28

For which of you, intending to build a tower, sitteth not down first, and counteth the cost, whether he have sufficient to finish it?

Wise students will follow this counsel and figure out how best to meet attendance costs through scholarships and other financial options.
