

Child Care Centers come in a variety of sizes, cots, and programs to fit all budgets and preferences. Parents are busy, however, selecting the right daycare center or preschool is crucial. Below is some basic information to child care centers in Utah County. Call the programs you are interested in. Check with them on their vacancy for your child's age and if their hours match your needs. Schedule a time for a visit, and try to visit as many programs as you can to evaluate all your options.

The options listed above provide regular child care, but at times you may need temporary, immediate child care. The Family Support and Treatment Center has a Crisis Respite Nursery designed to provide a safe, homelike environment where parents can bring their children during times of stress. Examples of possible reasons to use the nursery are medical emergencies, financial stress, and parenting difficulties. Additionally, they offer respite care for less urgent situations, including therapy appointments, medical appointments, court hearings, or support groups. The nursery is not designed for use as a daycare while parents are at work or school, but rather to prevent child abuse and neglect.
